Introduction : Agriculture is an important aspect of our life. In order to do agriculture well, there should be rain in proper times. If there is no rain when required, it would be difficult for us to live. If it is not possible for us to do agriculture, we would suffer famine. Not only that but all of us will die without any water to drink. Have you not seen wells and streams dry up during summer? Then, it becomes necessary to bring water from faraway places. In Israel a king did not worship the true God but because he worshipped idols, God brought famine in the land. We shall study how did it happen?
